

Dearest St Alban's Children,

In most fairy tales, the characters in a book need to solve or overcome a problem. There is always a happy ending where things end up better than they were before.

This is one of those times. For a while, we are going on a journey which will mean we need to stay apart until things are made better and we can come back together again.

We know lots of you are worried about a bug that is making people sick. Our wonderful doctors and nurses are working very hard to make people better and find a cure.

The people in charge of our country think they can look after us better and find the cure quicker if we stay apart for a while. So we must be brave and do what they say.

Your teachers will be teaching and caring for you in a different way for a while. They will be talking to you through our school website and helping you with your work and checking on how you are feeling. Keep working hard, try your best and talk about your worries. Your teacher will understand if you are finding all of this hard as they are too.

We will be checking in on your home learning work by looking at your website page but also any pictures or comments your parents have shared and we will be talking to your teachers about how you are doing.

Listen to your mum and dad, phone your grandparents and ask how they are and remember to be kind to each other. Please help with chores around the house and remember that this will only be for a short while. Remember, if you are worried, tell someone.

We will be back together soon, we promise. Before you know it, we will be back at school, learning, playing and having fun together.

We will miss you all very much.

God bless you and your family.

Mrs Adair and Mrs Gurner
